DIAMETER 36 Ft.
Bulbs 5 Ft.
Dome at Base 23 3/4 Ft.
Above Bulbs & Ring 22 Ft.
Height Base to Zenith 12 Ft.
Above Bulbs & Ring 7 Ft.
Cabin Room above Bulbs to Lines 3 3/4 Ft.
Middle of Bulbs to Lines 6¼ Ft.
Dome above Lines, diam. 15 2/3 Ft.
height 3 1/5 Ft.
Round Windows diamter 1½ Ft.
Top of Windows above middle of Bulbs 4 Ft.
Total 12 Windows, 3 groups of 4.
Two Line Width 1½ Ft., same as Windows.
Projection above Zenith, 2 Ft high, 1 Ft. wide.
Ring Projection out from Dome, 7 Ft., same as Dome above Ring.
Ring 1/5 Total Diamter. Bulbs 1/7 Total Diamter.
Bottom Center Circle, 5 Ft., same as Bulbs.
Bottom Dark Parts, 13 and 16 Ft., same as Top of Lines in Dome.

In Photo, Front Bulb is 15 feet closer to Eye than Rear Bulbs, and fine measurements shows the perspective shortening to be 1/21 difference. Therefore the distance from object to Eye of Camera must be 21 times 15 feet, 315 feet. At that distance the 36 foot object would subtend an angle of 7 degrees, therefore the image in a 4-foot Telescope would be about 5¼ inch. The Eyepiece lens covers only a fraction of this primary image. Therefore the Photo showing nearly the whole object could not have been taken through a Telescope. The same angles and conclusions would apply to a smaller model of the saucer at closer range. However, a plain Camera of 4 inch focal length would give this image about 1/2 inch size, hence the Photo must be an Enlargement of the original negative image. My Telescope total view is only one degree.

A 12 inch model would be 9 feet away to give this image. The Brownie Photo with much shortened vertical perspective and out-of-focus condition, shows closer viewpoint of about 1½ times the diameter of object. At 55 feet the image could not be out of focus with the background in focus. Hence it must be a 12 inch model only 18 inches from the Camera lens -- which would produce exactly this kind of photo image 2 inch size.

Dear Frank & Alice:

There was an air-raid alert this afternoon in this teeming metropolis of lusts, busts, sects and sex! And, sorrowfully, some 300 people out of its millions grew inquisitive enough to call the police to inquire "what the sirens were for?"

I don't like to change the subject, but, I got a sudden idea from the second line above for a clever gag which you could use some time or other. "Los Angeles,-- the only city where sects and sex are given equal billing, and where new religions and new movies run close heats for top honors."

Not that I am against so many new religions, but rather against the people who haven't taken the time to find out what the old one was all about. It's humorously compared to the motion-picture industry in a way. Instead of waiting to see the end of the first picture, the audience rushes across the street to be one of the first-nighters at the latest release.

Getting back to saucers, I am writing you this letter principlly because it appears evident neither of us will have much of an opportunity to get our heads together before the show. And, since I know only too well, unpaid avocations hardly mix with ones vocation, I think it well to bring these points to your attention in this manner.

First of all, would you want me to prepare a thumb-nail sketch of my background? Or don't you believe it necessary? Whatever the outcome, I have anticipated it and have taken the liberty of preparing one.

Last night while in the process of writing a few letters home, I suddenly stumbled onto an idea from an article I had read recently. It was in the Feb 1953 issue of SCIENCE DIGEST, titled, "WHAT IS SCIENCE?" and written by an authority of no small repute on the subject--L.A. DuBRIDGE, Ph.d., President, California Institute of Tech. Listen to this:

"Science is that great body of knowledge about nature which man has accumulated over the ages. The scientist is a man who is seeking knowledge."

He terms the people who take this knowledge to use and make things "technologists." Such people are engineers etc.

Frank, that is terrific! At least it is to me; for here we have something to substantiate the position of all those who come under the term "saucerians", i.e., those individuals who devote long hours to technical, physical, and mental research. This group of individuals comes under the title "Scientists." And, in the same vein, our Air Force is mainly under the "technologist" branch because their data comes from those who contribute photographs, observations, sightings, etc. They are taking this knowledge to make or use things which is evident by the secrecy. Here is our Ace in the hole; here is the chance to do something about your assertion that the evaluating and release of this information shouldn't be soley in the hands of the Air Force.

All along you've been fed nasty lumps to chew on by the opposition,--the Air Force has pretended you to be as far away as Mars; TRUE has stabbed you and your family where it hurts; Si's case has fallen through. Give a lump back! People have called you the DEAN, you feel yourself the DEAN, and I know you're the DEAN! There's only one thing lacking Frank, you've got to be the DEAN and bring this thing to a head. You're the only person who can do it, and all that's waiting is for you to take the step. It might sound feeble of me to say this, but I'm with you, I'm behind you all the way--and even further!

Since this is my first televison broadcast, I would indeed be a liar to say that I'm not excited! I have been on the radio several times but this was years ago when I was president of my graduating class in high-school. I am confident, however, that I will not make an ass of myself. Only two things worry me however above all else. One is that I have a soft voice which I hate to raise for volumes sake, and secondly, the question of George Adamski's picture.

As you have so ably suggested, I will declare that it was a mistake my name were printed. But if I see the thuth cannot be avoided, I will not hesitate to let it be known. Wow, what a furor there would be over that!

I have one other thing on my mind concerning the show and I hope you don't think me hammish because of it. I would like a picture taken sometime during the broadcast or at the station of the both of us. For myself? No, I have so few of myself. My mother has been after me for the last five years, even when I was in the service for a picture. So, in contemplation, I assumed this would be a very appropriate moment. And it will do her heart good.

I hope that your time permits a discussion of the points covered in this letter before the broadcast. And in closing let me gratefully thank you for the opportunity you are giving me. I pray to God I ~~will~~ may merit and justify the faith you have in me.

Most respectfully

Jerry

Monday Afternoon
February 8th 1954.

Dear Frank & Alice:

The stolid growth of facts in support of a concrete theory on flying saucers has finally caught up with me in some degree. With the surmounting thousands of queries cascading headlong into my mind all converging to meet the equally numerous volumes of hypotheses(all of which have been presented thus far), I suddenly find myself prompted to write you this lengthly letter.

It is a letter that has had many beginnings. This is perhaps one that will be completed and mailed. I have long delayed writing this owing principley (misspelled?) to the differences we hold in religious concepts; but nevertheless, written now because I feel similarly we are likes, in that we both want "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

Not being reserve, nor overly discreet, I ask that you read these views of mine with an open mind, weighing them in your own to ascertain whether they be detremental or beneficial. I certainly have spent many weary hours assimilating and weighing them in mine with no real opportunity to advance them. Usually this has stemmed from my practice of listening more to the other fellow than to myself, but there are additional causes. Discussion has been retarded because of their seeming contradiction to my interest in saucers; to the philosophies of saucerians in general, and cults in particular. Many would feel this or these views my only outlook on saucers. Such is not the case. I do believe there are both types of people existing throughout the realms of space as exist here on earth. I have previously,to the beliefs of those with whom I have associated, followed only that channel of angelic qualities. However, at this time, I am making it known to you first and then to the others, I have also been cognizant of the latter element. It is then in this letter, the latter element I am to discuss.

It is somewhat difficult to determine how or just where to begin. Let me hope I start where you can visualize my thoughts. For although they seem nebulous and paradoxical, I firmly believe they will coagulate into something more earthly.

You may recall on the radio broadcast Sunday a week ago, I suggested the possibility of saucers being both evil and good. I don't believe this a mere possibility. I insist that it is a fact--an all important one. And it is a fact that to my way of thinking, can be responsible for the contradictions so prevalent among saucerian philosophers. We humans do know we carry potental seeds of both good and evil. Is it then a vain thought to conceive such does not exist elsewhere? I can only grow to a greater understanding by utilizing what knowledge I already have, and to conceive all space is peopled with angelic people, or spiritual beings is vain!

A very rosy picture has been painted thus far about our brothers in space by nearly every group of avid enthusiasts, with little regard to what lies on the other side of all they see. None of us can see evil, it is hidden behind a veil of sham and deceit, but nevertheless is present. I have sought to find it and weed it out, then determine (if possible) the reasons for the deceit. Let me then, first of all, tell you where I began, and what motivated this intensive research.

When I was living with you and your family, you may recall that a majority of my evenings were spent delving into the Bible. This characteristic has been part of my motivating interest all along, although, I do not openly state I resort to the Bible for help in solving this riddle. However, one night while reading in St. Matthew a series of quotes by Jesus to his 12 desciples, I was impressed by one verse concerning the latter days. (I am one of those who assume we are living in such times)(St Matt 24:24) "FOR THERE SHALL ARISE FALSE CHRISTS AND FALSE PROPHETS, AND SHALL SHOW GREAT SIGNS AND WONDERS; INSOMUCH THAT, IF IT WERE POSSIBLE, THEY SHALL DECEIVE THE VERY ELECT."

Whatever our basic religious affiliation, I'm sure you must agree it applies to one as well as the other. Now, Frank, what is a saucer if not a great sign or the space people if not a great wonder? Disregarding for a moment the meaning it has been given by theologists, theosophists, priests, ministers, or interpretors, I, as a simple, everyday human look upon anything beyond my intelligence as a wonder, and everything not common in the heavens or skies as a sign! Certainly, saucers cannot be excluded infulfilling those words. Nor can they be cast aside because we do not see at the moment any evil intentions, acts of agression etc. I will go into this point later in the letter, but for conformity of thought, let me go on.

In that particular verse, we have assumed saucers can have some bearing or connection, but what about false prophets or false Christs? Here once again, I sought a more ~~exactly~~ emphatic definition. I found similar words of Jesus on how to recognize them--hot physically, or by set standards of appearance or dress --but more precisely by the deeds they performed.

(St. Matt 7:15-18)

"BEWARE OF FALSE PROPHETS WHICH COME TO YOU IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING BUT INWARDLY THEY ARE RAVENING WOLVES. YE SHALL KNOW THEM BY THEIR FRUITS."

From the understanding of this verse, I preclude we will know a false teacher or anti-Christ by the fruit they bear. For an example, no man--business men in particular will openly say to you, "I am rotten." No, he uses deceit; tells you he has the best product on the market and utilizes all sorts of clever methods to convey he is tops when in reality he's the opposite.

I believe the same applies with saucers or spacemen who are working against us. Do they, or would they inform us of their inner shortcomings; more so their true intentions? Heck no! We must find them and see them for what they really are. You must agree yourself no definite answer to "WHY THEY ARE HERE" has been revealed. All have been speculation and wishful thinking, or even vain imagination. We must be the ones to see through the veils of sham, (if such do exist).

It is to this end I have sought to determine whether such an element exists in saucer stories and the presence of saucers in our atmosphere. Need I say then, that my statement on the broadcast was founded not by theory alone, but by facts and experiences. And I say also there are many others existing to those who are willing to see them.

Let me now then compare some of my experiences with both saucers and saucerians, so that you too might be fully aware of an element that truly exists. I will use one good example from my own case history, although there are others. It is the others I would rather you see without my insinuations.

An amateur astronomer in Southern California has made many fantastic claims in saucers that have astounded the scoffers and believers alike. Yet, in addition to this, those peoples of varying religious concepts who take neither a stand for or against them, have been duly impressed. For this man, has presented to the public the most factual evidence thus far injected into the case--evidence which seemingly cannot be refuted. I do not refute his evidence but I certainly do refute his claims as to how the evidence has been obtained; the means by which he is revealing the whys and wherefores. Let us for the moment review some of this evidence:

CASE "A"--Method of taking pictures.

Here is a man who claims to have taken pictures of saucers by his untiring efforts night after night watching the skies and waiting by his telescope with loaded film in an attached camera. These claims are FRAUDULENT - DECEIVING. He does not lay out watching and waiting although everyone is lead to believe so. He knows exactly when a ship is coming, and is there at the precise instant to snap the picture. It is a planned, purposeful action. Therefore, why the DECEIT? Is this all because people will refuse the truth as he claims? Perhaps,--but perhaps not as well.

CASE"B"--DESERT CONTACT WITH SPACEMAN

Here again is a man who has claimed he was picnicing with a group of friends in the desert when all of a sudden they all look up and see a huge spaceship. Then after the story unfolds this man accidently meets a "Saucer-driver" whom he thought to be a prospector.

Likewise here, I do not refute the story of a contact. But if good is to result why the need for deceit?

I declare his revelation to the public DECEITFUL and FRAUDULENT. It DID NOT occur per chance. Every incident was known(to my knowledge) a week in advance. I was with Lucy when the plaster-of-paris was bought; I purchased the photographic plates myself. I also accidently heard the tape recording of the entire proceedings, i.e. who was to go, where they would rendevous, etc., two days before the contact took place.

Was this story concocted also because people would not believe him? Why should he care one way or the other if he KNEW it was true? Perhaps, it was! But perhaps it wasn't!

CASE "C"--THE BROWNIE SNAPSHOT

I do not have to go into the history of this for you are entirely familiar with it. However, this same man only this week has asked me to continue using my name on the picture because,"You have to enter the back door sometimes to get the truth across."

I implore you to tell me, is this not deceit? Is this not already a corruption of truth? I say it is! I know it is! And I will not condone it nor support it any longer.

I hallow the truth, and because man has shaded it, am having one heck of a time finding it. Here,--this fast--on the threshhold of a new age and new science, we find already the truth is stained by man's own colorings. It is being contaminated even before the world has the opportunity of either believing or disbelieving the existance of saucers. And ironically, it is being corrupted by one who openly condemns and ridicules those in the Government, big business, etc., for the very thing which he is doing. The truth which so many of us are so doggedly seeking, is being turned into a counterfeit before our very eyes and censored to meet the public's criteria for acceptance. Must truth be so presented to have acceptance? No, I have always felt truth carries its own weight and does not need the structural beams of man's buildings to hold it aloft. But even though we see this sham, and this deceit, we have pledged our support to this guy. Ugh, how ridiculous and stupid can we be! It really is not necessary to go to such extremes to support saucers. Like the republicans said year after year during the democratic regime, "it's time for a change!"

The sorrowful part all of this is that this astronomer is being (so he tells me) encouraged to utilize this method. Oh, what horror, what a miserable lot of people we are to be so easily beguiled and lead like cattle to the salughter house!

Although this is my prime example, there are others like it. And in these hours of hypothetical thinking I have unearthed other startling characteristics which makes necessary more consideration of the glorious tales of space!

You must admit this revelation of saucers we have experienced in the last few years has all the earmarks of PERFIDITY, DUPLICITY, CONFUSION, and DISSENSION. Can all this bring a conversion of the world to something better? Perhaps yes; perhaps no. I am certainly not the judge of the infinite--hardly capable of the finite.

You may or may not belong to that faction which upholds all saucers as being friendly. I hardly think so because of your most recent statement, "No, I have never seen a saucer and I hope to God I never do."

Frank, I must tell you this because I feel no one will be man enough to do so ~~themself~~ himself! There is considerable criticism among the ranks for that statement, and even some of your closest friends (or so-called) are holding it against you. In their evil imaginings they say it is proof of your authorship being merely for monetary gains. This really comes as a surprise to me, because these persons who have voiced this malicious rumor, speak sweetly to your face. Ugh, again, what friends! At any rate, I have, or believe I have an understanding of what you meant, and why you said it, although others are so willing to condemn you for it. Even you might not be fully aware of why you said that. I am glad you did, and I must admit it elevates the respect I have for you already.

Getting back to the point of the friendliness of saucers and spacemen as conceived and presented by saucerian philosophers, let me bang out a few holes in their stories! The points in support of this hypothesis at present are:

1. No display of aggression.
2. No visible weapons on their craft.
3. Claims of wars being non-existant.

To begin, we cannot hold any weight in the first statement as being truthful, for actually there are as many incidents contrary to this supposition as there are in favor of it.

Our airplane crashes, the Mantell case, and even our political maneuvers point out to us that aggression does not always constitute open warfare. Then too, it must be remembered, the mysterious disappearances of people from this planet can be considered more of an act of aggression than anything else at present. In research of this mystery, I have found that one thing is often common. A vast number of these disappearing people are or were connected intimately to the saucer phenomena and material pertaining to them. And, I have also noticed on occassions, numbers of these disappearing people have experienced a turnabout in their beliefs prior to their disappearance. In other words they took a dim view of what they wanted or thought to be true, then suddenly they disappear.

Here alone is evidence that must be considered by our saucerian philosophers. For aggression in some degree does exist!

Secondly, we hear that they have no exterior or interior weapons either on the saucer or on their person. This is indeed a foolish arguement. The very fact they uphold in regards to the origin of saucers is sufficient to denote a more advanced potental. Take the man who presented himself in the Times-Office. He had no weapons, but you saw for yourself he had a greater one in his potental. He merely put his finger on the metal book weight and it melted beneath his finger in a given area. Must we then find a physical weapon to prove they have ulterior motives? No, but we must keep in mind the fact they do possess the potental of far greater destruction, and only God knows to what end they will some day utilize it. I believe they are like us. They too, can be tempted to prostitute knowledge and power.

Finally, the supposition of no wars is certainly a lie! If people are given such rosy information about life as it is throughout space, they why so many contradictions? And if people receiving such information are advised to lie about what is or isn't acceptable to the pbblic where the roses? There alone, and in itself is a more horrible war than open bloodshed. It is a struggle between the principles of good and evil in the minds of us all--a war of the unseen--far more disastrous than any physical war. We can fight those things we see, but try to combat that which you don't see, and then you realize the latter is even greater. You are trying to strangle something nebulous as Communism. Try to shoot communism. It can't be done. Physical methods cannot cope with non-physical entities. Then our only hope in defeating this beast is to follow in deed the laws set down years ago for man of earth By God, and taught us through His servants and only begotten Son.

You also must admit that the reason presented as to why or why not more saucers present in our skies, is a flimsey one. It is also one I think lacking. For if saucers are here to help us, how can they but do us harm if we never see that which we are supposed to be dealing with? Friendly men do not hide even among enemies! And if spacemen are walking on earth as earthmen, how can they be helping us by doing the same things we do! For if they do anything different than we, they would become obvious to our eyes. Therefore, if I am to support the story as proposed and that they are walking amongst us, there must be another element afoot--otherwise they would make themselves known regardless of the consequences. Jesus did not go among men in their vain deceits,

He made no pretences, and to the contrary, He told man he was from the Father. If spacemen be so advanced, then why should their advancement be different from a method so cherished by the masses of humanity for ages?

No, Frank, I am firmly convinced there is something afoot, and there are thousands being deceived daily!

Rather than go into any of the further points, I think I will bring this letter to a close. It is not an endeavor of volume, nor attempts of book writing. It is something I must finally make clear because I feel I am beginning to come into my own in the saucerian brackets, and so therefore, I must let you above all know my position--Not my apparent stand.

Getting to the more pressing things of the day, I must also tell you I am once again on the unemployed list. Not that I mind it too much at the moment, because it affords me the time I need to continue research and study of these riddles. As you know, there are not too many like myself who have given up everything to pursue this end. I'm not patting myself on the back, nor asking for plaudits from the crowd. However, I do ask that my efforts, and sacrifices merit the thinking they deserve.

I have much news for you regarding my talk with George Adamski and also George Van Tassel. I spent Thursday and Friday with Adamski and Sunday at the Rock with Van.

Give everyone my love and when you have the time, I would like to visit you to discuss much of this letter.

Respectfully Jerry

DEAR FRANK & ALICE! -

THE WEATHER AND DELIGHTFUL ENVIRONMENT HERE FAR SURPASSES BOTH MY PREVIOUS REMEMBRANCE OF SAN DIEGO AND YOUR VERBAL PRAISES. TRULY THE ATMOSPHERE BRINGS MANY NOSTALGIC MEMORIES OF CHILDHOOD DAYS IN PENNSYLVANIA. I AM REAPING INSPIRATION DAILY AS A RESULT.

PLEASE EXCUSE MY CONTINUAL NOTICE-TYPE LETTERS. YOU WILL UNDERSTAND I'M SURE, THE DIFFICULTY IN LENGTHLY CORRESPONDENCE AMID HUSTLE & BUSTLE.

CHUCK MILLIGAN WORKED FOR "PROJECT BLUEBOOK" AND IS STILL CONNECTED IN SOME DEGREE WITH SAUCER PROJECT. WHEN I LEARN MORE - I'LL FOREWARD SAME.

DR. SCOTT NEARING WILL BE HERE ON THURSDAY. I AM LOOKING FORWARD TO MEETING HIM AGAIN & LEARNING ABOUT HIS EUROPEAN VISIT.

DR. HARRY STEINMETZ IS A PERSONAL FRIEND OF THE LESSNER'S AND EARLY NEXT WEEK WE WILL HAVE DINNER WITH THEM. THIS SHOULD PROVE TO BE QUITE AN EXPERIENCE.

DR. RIEDEL IS GIVING LECTURES IN L.A. PRESENTLY WITH MOTION PICTURES & SLIDES. SOMEONE (G.D.) COULD PERHAPS COVER THIS FOR YOU. - SHOULD BE INTERESTING.

GEORGE ADAMSKI, I HEAR, WAS OVERWHELMED BY PEOPLE AT PALOMAR AS A RESULT OF LAST SUNDAY'S T.V. BROADCAST. MISSED HEARING HIM - DID YOU CATCH IT?

WILL TENATIVELY PLAN VISIT TO HOLLYWOOD FOR THE 2ND WEEK IN MARCH.

SINCERELY Jerry [Baker].

P.S. - LOVE TO ALL!

Mr. Frank Scully

Dear Frank,

I've written to you many times these past five years concerning the flying saucers and related phenomena with the belief that the truth was in you regarding these objects. Now after a thorough investigation of these unidentifia ble aeria l objects for the past few years I have been convinced in spite of myself of the reality of the saucers and their related phenomena and my beliefs are becoming stronger each day not only in the truth behind these objects, but my faith in mankind and love of God.

These la ndings of various sa ucers in the past six years have been very frequent and world-wide in nature, as well as good observations of the beings inside of them, with these reports ranging from little men, to modern man to large monsters. The purpose I'm not sure of, but where they come from I feel, definitely they a re interplanetary and from Mars, Venus, Moon and many othe r stars & solar systems. Perhaps our advancing to destruction age has a ttracted them here, but at least they are here,.... My congratulations to you, Newton, Adamski, Miller, Angelucci and others in California who are trying to help bring the truth to the general public before it is too late.

I know how you feel, because of the ridicule, abuse and persecution that you and your group must have faced, as I have received the same from many , because of the disk-like globe I sighted hovering above the Lynchburg College campus in Lynchburg, Virginia on July 6, 1951'. I feel however that the price we people have to pay for the majority of others is not too high considering the worthy purpose and that the truth will be out soon. Seek ye the truth and ye shall find it! No truer words were ever spoken. Every dog has his day and ours is overdue,soon it will come to each and every one of us. May God bless you a nd your group. My wife and I send our best wishes and deepest appreciation to both of you.

Toda y I wired President Eisenhower to the effect of my own private investigation the pa st six years and my conclusions, that they were (the sa ucers, interpla netary) trying to communicate with us, that t he government ha d made a ba d job of it and that they should release the truth about the movies, the landings, the photographs and the contacts. I hope that many ma ny others joined me in this plea. I would appreciate very much receiving a copy of your paperback book"Behind the Flying Saucers",which sold for 25¢ back in 1951, which was published by Popular Library as the one I had is now worn out. I have your clothbound edition of the same book.

In the future I will continue to devote my time, money and energy after my YMCA work to finding out more about the saucers, as I feel they are as anti-bodies of our own bodies, here to help us, and heaven knows if anyone needs this help our world today is the one. With best wishes to you and your group, I am----

Looking to the heavens for the signs of the times,

Martians May Be Observing Big-Three Meeting in Bermuda

TUCKER'S POINT, Bermuda.—(U.P.) — Backstairs at the White House advance section:

The Martians — if that's where the flying saucers come from—are quite interested in what President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel will be doing here this weekend.

A foreman for a commercial aircraft service company here reported at 1:20 in the morning earlier this week that a flying saucer was circling the island.

This man described it as a "silvery yellow" object. U. S. Air Force officers were not at all alarmed and the advance party from Washington took no extra precautions.

The Martians could not get in the Mid-Ocean Club—site of the Big Three meeting—even if they landed a fleet of saucers here for the simple reason they have no proper passes and probably would arrive without dinner jackets.

Extremely Skeptical Of "Saucer Kidnaping"

Dear Tex: I have not, in all my life, read such a silly paper article as the one in Wednesday's paper, "Wife Fears 2 Kidnaped by Flying Saucer."

Not that I do not believe that the flying saucers are from another solar system, but why would they pick on these two men?

Our best radio engineers and physicists have been trying, since the end of Word War II, to get some signs that living beings even exist outside of our one world, and have failed. Now all of a sudden a radio ham is talking to a "prince from the planet Maser."

The saucers have been watching us since the early 1700's. Now they're supposed to have come down and kidnaped two ordinary radio hams when they could have gotten brains like Einstein and Bohr.

No, I do not think the lady has to worry much—they'll be back.

QUANTITY	DESCRIPTION	PRICE

Dear Frank and Alice: —

Arrived here late yesterday afternoon safely and without further incident.

The story was played up in the Racine Journal Times with misleading captions all conveying marital trouble as the reason for the disappearance. Naturally home town gossip hounds of Main street take it on from there to say it's the gospel truth.

This being a small town ~~this~~ Jack's ham radio activities, the story has circulated over and over again. It has however aroused the skeptics here to look into all "this buck about saucers." This if nothing else seems to be heart-warming.

I had a very enjoyable trip here and saw many new and interesting things. One thing I observed was extremely abnormal or else I've been a fool for years.

From Albuquerque to Chicago I counted over 50 semi-trailers bearing "EXPLOSIVES." — 53 BEING the approximate figure. I saw many from Los Angeles or but thought little of it until it became apparent every other truck was filled with them. Certainly I don't want to sound flamboyant but "something is rotten in Dexmark." No civilian organization needs such large quantities of explosives and, on the other hand, our government blares "peace, peace, peace." What kind of mockery exists in the Bermuda conference?

You may be certain wheteves the origin or wherever the destination, a big story lies behind the endless convoy of trucks laded west with small red flags on their fenders and yellow & black poster board signs hinting the story by the arrangement of letters EXPLOSIVES!

I plan on making a trip into Chicago tomorrow and look into the possibilities of driving a new car from here to Los Angeles. This plan if successful will save Mrs Wilkinson some money and afford me the opportunity of earning a few dollars on the way.

Dear Frank.

Today is the anniversary of Pearl Harbor Day and naturally it's infamous story provides a springboard here for some well placed barrages aimed at Communism. No person on the street can intelligently define the word. They can only associate the term with REDS and RUSSIANS. But they are sold on it being something they must fight and obliterate.

Strange but people today are convinced that anything outside from our way of living as democracy is inferior. Therefore, they do not attempt to understand any other governmental organization. And what they don't understand they fear; what they fear they hate; and when hatred grows to large proportions wholesale murder becomes legally right by an act of war.

So Pearl Harbor Day here in Racine and most likely other cities of comparable size becomes a crutch against communism.

I am enclosing several other clippings here for your file. The one marked HERALD-EXPRESS is a duplicate of the article which appeared in the Los Angeles Herald Express November 28 1953. Evidently it was well placed in the Journal-Times because of the story carried on the front page of the same paper - that being the Saucer kidnapping.

This camera crap is 3 years old. What idiot brought this out of his file. Perhaps it hung around the Pentagon in some out-basket and only now in the desk-clean-up campaign the desk says: "Print it!" like Hollywood seeking re-issues of popular motion-pictures.

Although it has come right on the heels of the Canadian disclosure some weeks ago. Maybe the air-force didn't want to be "scooped" by someone else.

What "fact sheet" are they talking about? And what on earth does the Air-force consider facts? Why they don't even recognize their own equipment, pilots or technicians capable of offering facts!! How they can print a "fact sheet" then is quite a feat!

RE: MOSELY, FRED?

DATE: Tuesday, Dec 16th 1953.

SAUCER SEEKERS IN SAUCERIAN CIRCLES

Journeyed up to the Scully's again this afternoon at the invitation of Frank to meet Mr. Mosely, a ~~fellow~~ young saucer enthusiast from Bergen County, N.J. ~~who~~ MR. MOSELY, IS, at the present time, is collecting data for a forthcoming book to be ghosted in his own name by a writer of treasure stories.—KEN KRAPINE.

Mosely seemed to be a likeable fellow around 26 with his 2 years at Princeton very pronounced in his approach and speech. He had the obnoxious habit of UH-HUH-ing every other statement of Mr Scully's. I suppose the Professor's ~~that~~ AT PRINCETON set this up as a criteria ~~from the students~~ to assure themselves no one was sleeping during the discourse of their philosophies.

Mr Mosely has spent the last few weeks visiting the major saucerian candidates to ascertain an opinion of their stories, and at the same time to obtain the facts on each incident for presentation to the public through the views of an unbiased writer. This being the first book of Mr Mosely, he admitted it "all was quite confusing."

RE: Mosely,
DEC 15th 1953.

He told of his personal visits to Al Bailey, and George Williamson, George Adamski and a host of others including a personal trip to the Pentagon. This latter visit demands some applause from saucer-seekers because it hints strongly that his determination is not very restrained. Such enthusiasm in this work is not an everyday occurrence.

However, his tact is not so praiseworthy. In his questioning, he failed to respect Mr. Scully as a professional writer, by seeking to uncover a story from him.

Frank was aware of this and politely yet forcefully made his position clear, not only in the field of writing but as an ally-friend of Silas Newton. He reinterated his faith in Newton's knowledge of saucers and affirmed his character as the long time friend Newton had been.

The purpose of Mosely's book is, as he put it "to get all the facts and present them to the public."

To saucerians of experience and the

RE: MOSELY,
DEC 15th 1953

readerie themselves this is a bigger bite than any one man can chew. So far in the realm of saucers, it has been a bite no hundred men can chew.

Certainly Mr. Mosely cannot accomplish the feat overnight, nor in the single visits he has made in saucerian circles. He has only heard portions of the facts, fables of the fanciful, and buffets from the buffoons.

To put all this in print obviously will not enhance the reading public but become just another book on their shelve. We have too many such books on library shelfs today and far too few that educate us. Contradiction and confusion have no place in a world where peace & truth are the lofty goals of the younger generation.

Evidently Mr. Mosely's keen determination to write a book on the controversial subject has overshadow principle and fidelity. He wants to pledge the "truth about saucers" through deceit.

RE: MOSELY,
DEC 15th 1953.

Because of his own literary shortcomings, Mr Mosely plans to obtain the services of a pulp-bound "Horatio" to punch hit for him. It's like asking Joe Dimagga to bat for a high-school boy using the boy's name.

Certainly, nothing beneficial can come of it outside of the "filthy lucre" that is concealed somewhere in the dug-out.

Mr Mosely had a 7:30 date in Santa Monica with Gerald Heard then planned to return east to New Jersey. Following his return he anticipated a voyage to Lima, Peru to meet Mr Krapin and collabrate in writing the book.

OCTOBER "SIR" (I THINK)

Are the FLYING SAUCERS Kidnapping Humans?

By LEROY THORPE

This scene from H. G. Wells book "War of the Worlds" may be actually near the awful truth.

EVER since reports of the so-called "flying saucers" became fairly frequent, they have been accompanied by occasional items in the news of a sort to send a shudder of horror up the bravest spine.

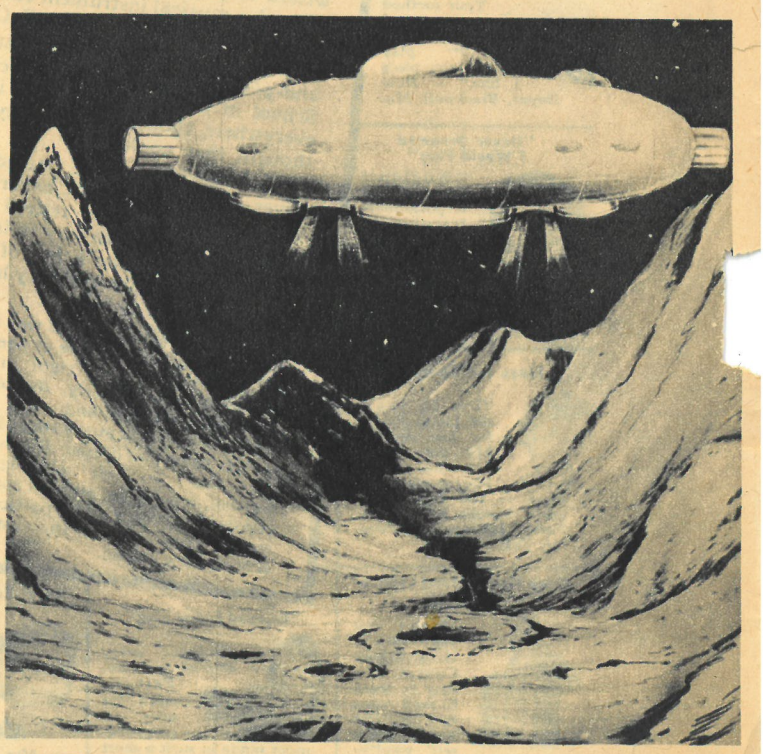
Are the Martians—or whatever extraterrestrials that are believed by some to "man" the flying saucers—snatching human beings off the earth and into their weird machines?

Are an unlucky few of us—and perhaps not so few at that—being captured with the same ease as we would net butterflies, perhaps for "zoological specimens," perhaps for vivisection or some other horrible death designed to reveal to our interplanetary invaders "What makes us tick?"

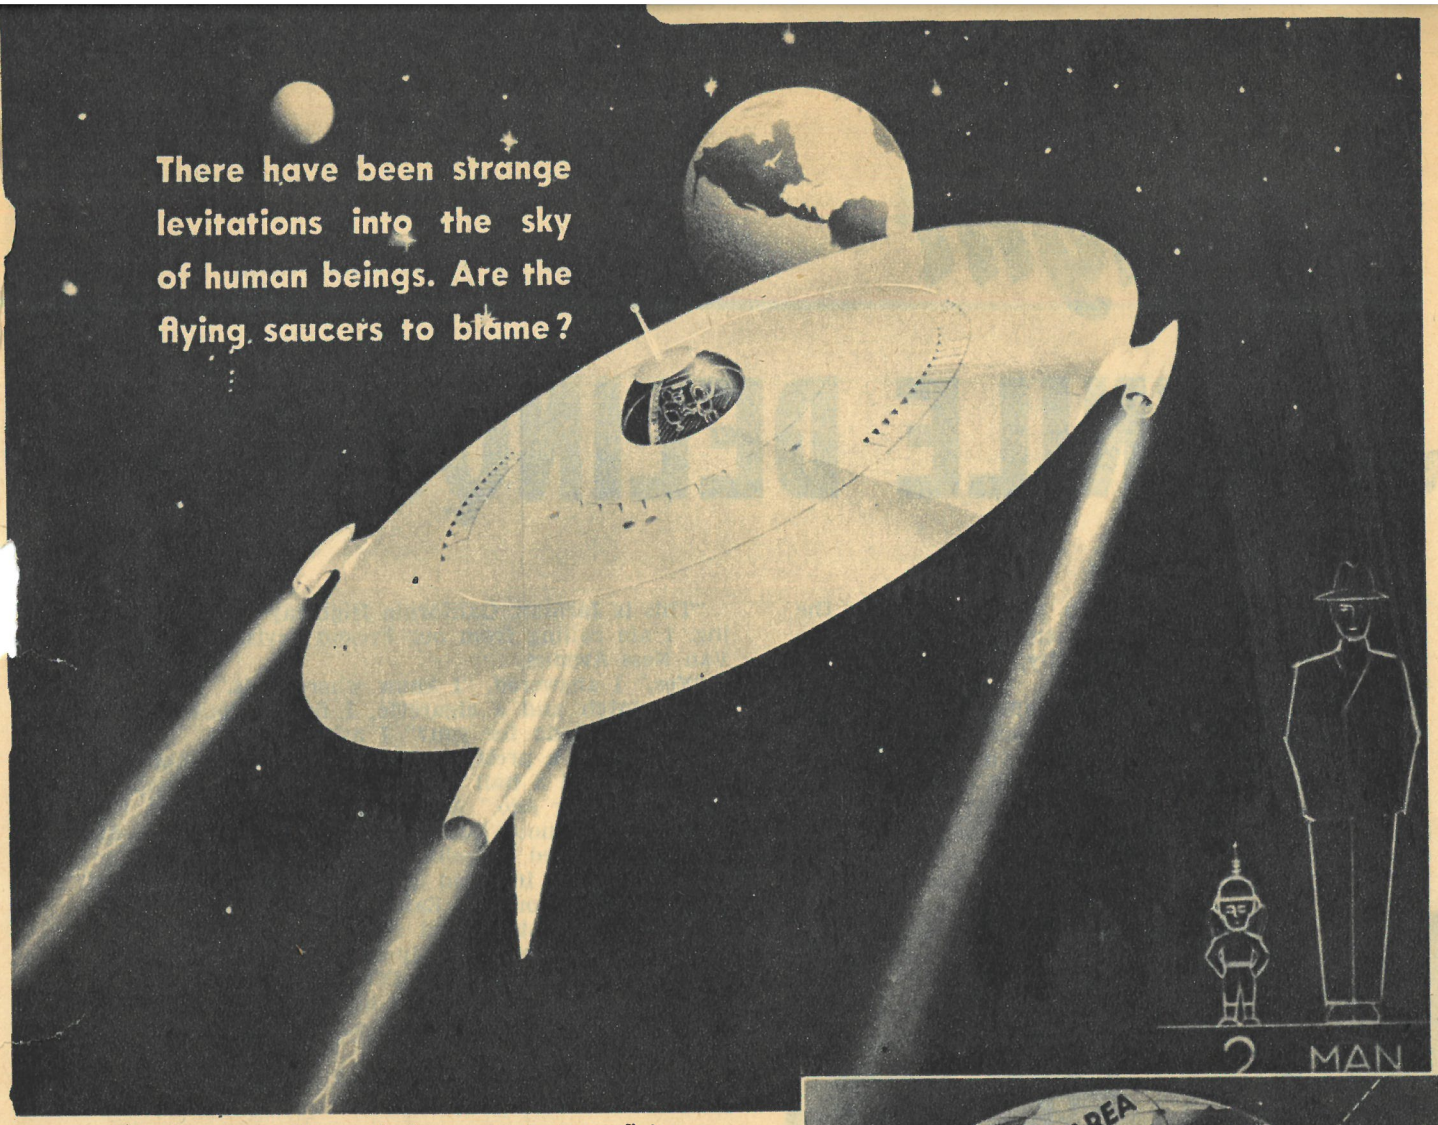
There is a great deal of evidence that just this is going on. It is evidence, mostly, of inexplicable levitations into the sky by invisible and unknown forces, sometimes accompanied by electrical or magnetic phenomena which our science is powerless to explain.

FOR example, consider the strange and terrible occurrence on a farm near Zanesviille, Ohio, not too long ago.

Two brothers named Albert and James Greer were haying in a 40-acre field. It was about 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon. The sky was sunny and cloudless, and there was not enough wind "to stir the leaves on the trees."



There is evidence that beings from some other planet visit this world, collect "specimens."



Artist's conception of how mysterious flying saucers move through space towards our earth.

Albert Greer was working on the ground, pitching hay onto the wagon. James Greer was on the wagon, placing the load.

Suddenly, James Greer gave a startled exclamation and dropped his pitchfork. He started to rise straight up into the air, slowly at first but with rapidly increasing speed.

"Help, Al!" he yelled. "Something's pulling me up into the sky!"

Albert Greer leaped onto the wagon and jumped desperately for his brother's feet, then kicking frantically about fifteen feet over his head. He missed grabbing them by inches.

Screaming now, his brother continued to rise. "Help! Help! Help!" he screamed, as the invisible something that had seized him pulled him aloft in an absolutely vertical, straight line.

His voice grew fainter and fainter as his distance from the ground rapidly increased.

A hired man who had been working in the haymow and two neighbors who had heard the commotion ran onto the field. They all saw James Greer's threshing body—now seemingly of doll-like size—rising straight upward into the sky.

Within less than a minute, James Greer had risen so high he could no longer be seen or heard. For about two minutes more, the sky overhead was absolutely

Some authorities think the saucers come from Mars, which is now considered to be inhabited.

ARE FLYING SAUCERS KIDNAPPING HUMANS?

Then a "blinding light" appeared directly overhead and moved off rapidly toward the northeast.

Its altitude appeared to be "very great" — so great that if it was the exhaust from some interplanetary spaceship, the ship itself could not be seen against the brilliance of the sky.

THIS strange incident evoked widespread comment. Other comparable incidents were even stranger.

In Brooklyn, New York, a mother escorting her 7-year-old daughter home from school was suddenly amazed to see the girl—who was walking a few feet ahead of her—commence to struggle violently while simultaneously rising straight up into the air.

The mother leaped forward and grasped the girl around the knees when her feet were about five feet off the sidewalk.

"I pulled her down quite easily," the mother stated afterward. "It was like some sort of magnet was pulling her up, but the magnet didn't have power enough to lift both of us off the ground.

"The 'power' went off all at once, and we both flopped down pretty hard."

The girl said that something "tingly" had taken hold of her head, neck, and shoulders and pulled her upward. "It felt like some kind of electricity," she added.

INNUMERABLE more examples might be given. Some involve people, others animals, and not a few involve objects, such as ships and even airplanes.

All, however, appear to have been seized and carried off into the sky by some invisible force.

At Edine, Missouri, three men were pulling corn in a field when, according to the sole survivor, there was a flash of brilliant light in the sky. One man was drawn upward into the heavens.

(This incident might be explained as the result of a freak flash of lightning, except for the fact of the totally missing man. Lightning has never been known to so completely destroy a man that no fragment of his body or clothing was ever found. In this case, no trace of the victim or his effects was ever seen again.)

Near Schaffausen, Germany, four men vanished in a single day. Three of the disappearances were witnessed by others. All three men ascended straight up "with great rapidity."

On Glastenbury Mountain near Bennington, in Vermont, no fewer than five persons vanished without trace. Two of the five were last seen at almost the same identical spot on the slopes of the mountain.

These disappearances all occurred within the last few years and this statement regarding them recently appeared in a scientific magazine article:

"There is evidence that whatever abducted these people was invisible —perhaps some fantastic interplanetary machine . . ."

More likely, only the abducting force, whatever it was, was not visible. Unfortunately, there were no direct observers of any of these disappearances, so there is no certain evidence that the victims were lifted off the earth.

On the other hand, in each instance, hundreds of searchers as well as packs of bloodhounds failed to find any sign of a body, or even evidence of foul play.

The idea that predatory animals could have caused such total disappearances was ruled out, under the circumstances.

IN Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, two men were "lifted bodily" but as swiftly released for some inexplicable reason.

At Pillitsfer, Livonia, there were eight "human ascensions" in two hours. One of the victims was dropped from a height of several hundred feet and instantly killed.

Near Perhawar, India, there were at least six such ascensions—all witnessed by considerable groups of people—over a period of six months.

Near de Solutre, France, wrapping paper used in a factory yard suddenly soared straight upward and vanished into the sky on a perfectly clear, calm day. Nothing except the wrapping paper was taken.

In Hampshire, England, four dogs were adbucted skyward, howling pathetically, on a single morning.

Dogs were also the prey at Lille, France; Tromso, Norway; and Swansea, Wales—to mention only a few places.

At least thirty instances of witnessed ascensions of cats might be given.

There are no completely verifiable instances of ascensions of cattle or horses or wild animals, perhaps because these creatures are easily and frequently "obtainable" when out of sight of humans.

There are so many of these cases that a book could be filled with them.

Perhaps the most incredible (but true) was the partial levitation of the 60-ton coastal schooner Maida in the Bay of Bengal some years ago.

The vessel was lifted "almost completely out of water and held there for almost a minute, and finally allowed to fall back as though with great reluctance, and with a great splash."

As usual in these case, the day was clear and calm. Five members of the crew and four passengers attested to the reality of the occurrance, which they all deemed "inexplicable."

WHAT is the evidence that beings from some other planet are visiting Earth and collecting "specimens" of Earth life for study?

In the first place, the evidence that life exists on other worlds is conclusive. Low forms of bacterial life have been found in meteorites, while the existence of widespread vegetation has been proven on Mars.

If bacteria and vegetation exist on other worlds, the chances that higher forms of life, perhaps exceeding our own in intelligence, have also developed are highly probable.

Photographic proof of the reality of the once-controversial Martian "canals," established only a few years ago, is conclusive evidence of a high-level civilization on that planet, the closest to our own.

What appears to have been a tremendous atomic explosion was observed on Mars only two years ago.

Now for the flying saucers. Even the Air Force has finally admitted that they are not optical illusions, but that they are "real."

It has also been admitted that they appear to be under the control of some form of "reasoning intelligence."

The most logical conclusion is that the flying saucers are actually visitors from another world.

Actually, the strange objects observed in the sky are of not one, but at least three distinctly different types—a tiny disk not more than two or three feet in diameter that is probably operated by remote control and is used for reconnaissance.

A much larger disk of 100 or more feet in diameter that undoubtedly carries a crew but that may be incapable of traversing the enormous interplanetary distances.

And a third, gigantic "mother ship" — a globe at least a mile in diameter capable of traveling from planet to planet and also of transporting the smaller-type ships, as well as vast quantities of supplies and equipment.

The "mother ship" has only been sighted on extremely rare occasions, always very high in the sky as though anxicus to avoid detection. The other types have been sighted hundreds of times, over many years.

WHY would interplanetary visitors want to collect specimens? Why don't they just land wherever they wish on Earth, make us their slaves or blast us all to smithereens and take over immediately? What are they waiting for?

To answer these questions, we must go outside the realm of science fiction.

In science fiction, spaceships from Earth are always blithely landing on new worlds, the crews make a few simple atmospheric tests, and then everybody piles out—like as not without even the protection of a space-suit—to conquer or be conquered.

In reality, interplanetary exploration and possible colonization will never be accomplished in that simple way, as scientists and technicians of our Air Force who are now working on the problem know full well.

It cannot be accomplished that way by us, nor can it be accomplished by visitors from any other world.

Here are some of the reasons why:

The atmospheres of no two worlds are exactly alike. Ours, for example, is largely composed of oxygen and nitrogen, with traces of ammonia, hydrocarbons, ozone, and almost undetectable amounts of helium, neon, argon, xenon, and others.

Still other elements may also be present in amounts which even our most delicate instrument cannot detect. But the presence or absence of even these elements in exactly the right proportions is essential to our form of life.

If we do not know the exact constituency of even our own atmosphere and how it affects life, how can we be sure of the effect of the atmosphere of any other world on humans?

A very slight difference in the atmosphere of a strange planet might mean the difference between human life and death.

The danger might not become apparent within a few days. It might take years or even centuries. But the explorers and colonists might be doomed—though they felt fine.

In addition, the atmosphere and soil of every planet harboring life teems with bacteria, virus life, and still tinier chemical structures which even our best bio-chemists have not determined are living or non-living.

Many of these cannot detected by even the highest-power electronic microscopes. Their presence is known only by their effect on their surroundings.

Many are beneficial, but many others are highly detrimental to life, even lethal.

WHEN we visit another planet, (as we surely shall, someday), we may expect to be attacked by inimical forms of life we don't even know exist. The harmful effects of many of these may not become apparent for years.

Finally, we have built up a resistance to hostile life-forms in our own environment that would not be present on another world.

We would have no defense against attack, and we would have no way of knowing whether our bodies might ultimately develop immunity except through actual experimentation.

Such experimentation would take many years, and very possibly centuries.

That is the sort of experimentation that our interplanetary visitors may be conducting now.

In their huge mother ship, they may have vast laboratories, containing innumerable observation chambers whose walls are impervious to any form of life and into which even the air admitted is sterilized.

In these chambers, they may be testing the effects of our pseudo-living chemical compounds, viruses, bacteria, vegetation, and animal life on "guinea-pigs" they have brought from their own world.

One of their own lower mammals, for example, may be placed in an hermetically-sealed chamber containing normal Earth atmosphere.

His reactions are carefully noted and recorded. If he shows signs of illness or dies, the experiment is continued with a new test animal, but with a slightly changed atmosphere.

THIS process alone may consume centuries. Apparently, however, it is progressing satisfactorily, since the flying saucers have been around for hundreds of years and show no sign of leaving.

That in itself is an ominous sign.

They are certainly testing to determine if various forms of their vegetation can adjust itself to life on Earth. They have tested with many—perhaps all—of our lower mammals to determine how harmful they may be.

Finally, they appear to have begun testing with man himself. They are trying to determine his resistance factors—what permits him to survive in his own environment by contrast with theirs.

For these final experiments, they are undoubtedly using direct-comparison experiments, employing both humans and their own higher mammals. That is the only safe way it can be done.

How many humans may have already perished in these experiments is of course unknown. But the total may be very high.

A grim fact is that of the hundreds of thousands of human disappearances each year, several thousand remain unsolved.

No trace of the victims is ever found, in striking contrast to the vast majority of criminals, dissatisfied husbands, footloose wanderers and even amnesiacs who vanish but are subsequently recognized, even though living under different names.

Even the bodies of murder victims are almost invariably found. It is almost impossible to wipe out all traces of a murder.

So the terrifying and horrible conclusion is that we are being "fished for" by visitors from another world.

And the purpose of that "fishing" is to obtain subjects for laboratory experimentation—the final objective being conquest of Earth and the subjugation or destruction of all humanity.

THE END

Thursday Morning
December 17th 1953

Dear Frank:

Enclosed you will find some material which I believe beneficial for the files there.

The notes on Mr. Mosely are yours also. I titled it because I believe you could do a book under that heading and capture one phase of the mystery with stories or anecdotes of the onrushing Saucerians.

You have one big reporter in this corner to help!

Sincerely, I believe it would be a good idea and worthy of some thought. Your ability and present span of writing for Variety encompasses the same scope. Why not let the people know what really goes on "Behind The Flying Saucers"! Certainly, you needn't even go into your own beliefs or what saucers are etc, — just a book about "Saucer seekers in saucerian circles."

I'm behind it 1000%!!

I'm mailing this in preference to making the trip so that I won't take any of your valuable time. You had an extremely hard day last Tuesday. I certainly hope it didn't tax you physically.

Many thanks to you and Alice for your encouragement and patience with me. It's not easy to find these days.

Most respectfully,

Jerry
